Texas Board of Nursing Bulletin

A Quarterly Publication of the Texas Board of Nursing

The mission of the Texas Board of Nursing is to protect and promote the welfare of the people of Texas by ensuring that each person holding a license as a nurse in the State of Texas is competent to practice safely. The Board fulfills its mission through the regulation of the practice of nursing and the approval of nursing education programs. This mission, derived from the Nursing Practice Act, supersedes the interest of any individual, the nursing profession, or any special interest group.

Texas Nurses Selected to Pilot Choosing Wisely® Campaign

Nursing is consistently rated as the most trusted profession and nurses are one of the largest providers of patient care. For that reason, it is imperative that nursing practice be evidence-based. The Choosing Wisely® campaign has an identified goal of facilitating wise decision making about the most appropriate care for patients based on the individual patient's situation. Recommendations from more than 70 specialty society partners guide daily evidence-based practice and improve communication with the healthcare team, patients, and patients' families. The objective of Choosing Wisely® is to enable healthcare providers to utilize recommendations from the specialty society partners to transform practice. With funding made possible by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the national Physicians Alliance through the American Board of Internal Medicine Foundation developed the initiative.

Choosing Wisely® is a campaign constructed to stimulate conversations among practitioners, patients, and patients' families. These discussions are designed to support patients to choose care that is:

- Supported by evidence;
- Not duplicative of tests or procedures already done;
- Actually necessary; and
- Causes no harm.

Texas Board of Nursing to Undergo Review by the Texas Sunset Advisory Commission

The Texas Board of Nursing (BON) will undergo review by the Texas Sunset Advisory Commission during the 2016-2017 review cycle for the 85th Legislative Session. The Texas Sunset Advisory Commission was established by the Texas Legislature following passage of the Texas Sunset Act in 1977. The Sunset Advisory Commission performs periodic assessments of state agencies to answer this basic question for the legislature: Are the agency's functions necessary, and if so, how can its functions be done more efficiently?

The Sunset review process entails three phases that ultimately lead to a legislative determination of whether the agency will continue to exist with improvements or be abolished with authority to continue its functions up to one year following the legislation. In the first phase, the agency performs a global self-evaluation of its functions that are documented in the agency's self-evaluation report. The Texas Board of Nursing Self-Evaluation Report was completed in September, 2015 and is publicly available on the Texas Sunset Advisory Commission website at: www.sunset.texas.gov/reviews-and-reports/agencies/texas-board-nursing-tbn During this phase, Sunset Commission staff review the self-evaluation report, receive confidential public input, evaluate the agency, identify problems, develop recommendations, and publish a staff report. BON staff encourages nursing stakeholders to review the Texas Board of Nursing Self-Evaluation Report and provide input. A public input form is available at: www.sunset.texas.gov/input-form.

The second phase of the Sunset review process commences with a Sunset staff presentation of its report and recommendations with an opportunity for the agency to present its response. Public testimony is heard by the Commission during this phase and published on the Texas Sunset Advisory Commission website at: <https://www.sunset.texas.gov/>. The Commission meets following the public hearing to consider and vote on which changes will be recommended to the full Texas Legislature during the 85th Legislative Session.

The third and final phase of the Sunset review process entails legislative action. A Sunset bill on the agency is drafted, filed, and goes through the normal bill procedures. The Senate and House hold committee hearings to debate the bill leading to either bill passage or failed adoption. Finally, the Governor signs, vetoes, or allows the bill to become law without signature. This final outcome determines whether the agency continues with improvements or is abolished with the authority to continue its functions up to one year following the decision.

TPAPN Broadens Eligibility Criteria

The Texas Peer Assistance Program for Nurses (TPAPN) has made several changes recently. One of the biggest changes is to the eligibility criteria for nurses to be able to participate in TPAPN. The new eligibility statement is:

TPAPN accepts eligible nurses who may benefit from peer assistance services.

There are some criteria that may inhibit eligibility of a nurse into a TPAPN track. Potential categories of ineligibility may include: lack of a Texas nursing license, disciplinary action within the past five years, current investigation by the Board of Nursing, legal actions (including felony convictions, deferred adjudication, probation, arrests, or pending charges), convicted or registered sex offenders, and prior participation in TPAPN.

TPAPN has also made changes within the program to facilitate a participant's progress within the program. Many of the forms are now available electronically, including the enrollment forms. In some cases, the restrictions for nurses in the program are more flexible than they have been in the past. In the past, participants could not work more than 40 hours in a week; and now, participants may not work more than 96 hours in two weeks.

TPAPN has resources for participants, employers, and co-workers of TPAPN participants on their website (www.tpapn.org). The TPAPN resources include participant and forms handbooks as well as slide shows for employers and co-workers of TPAPN participants. There is also information about volunteering with TPAPN as an advocate on the TPAPN website. The next advocate workshop will be April 8-9, 2016 at the TCEA Conference Center, 3100 Alvin DeVane Blvd., Building B, Austin, Texas 78741.

in the campaign, working with member fellows who represent professional nursing organizations and large health care systems, embodying a broad range of clinical expertise, practice settings and patient populations. Nursing engagement stretches beyond large groups and boardrooms. Bedside patient care providers are key participants in leveraging their knowledge and skills to deliver patient-centered care. Texas nurses have been selected to pilot the Choosing Wisely® campaign, beginning with a knowledge assessment survey related to the campaign. The data from the survey is currently being analyzed and will be disseminated in a future Texas Board of Nursing Bulletin upon final analysis. In addition, continuing education offerings are currently in development to address knowledge deficits revealed by the survey and equip nurses to join the campaign to improve evidence-based patient-centered practices. Summary of Actions

A regular meeting of the Board of Nursing was held October 22-23, 2015, in Austin.
The following is a summary of Board actions taken during this meeting.

At the regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Nursing (BON or Board) held on October 22-23, 2015, the Board approved amendments to 22 Tex. Admin. Code §223.1, pertaining to Fees. The proposal was published in the November 6, 2015, issue of the Texas Register. No comments were received and amended §223.1 became effective December 27, 2015.

Amendments to Rule 223.1 decrease the renewal fee for licensed vocational nurses by $5, resulting in a new renewal fee of $40 for licensed vocational nurses, and also decrease the fee for individuals seeking licensure by examination by $25, resulting in a new fee of $75 for these individuals.

The Board also published in the November 6, 2015 issue of the Texas Register notice of intention to review and consider for re-adoption, re-adoption with amendments, or repeal the following chapters contained in Title 22, Part 11, of the Texas Administrative Code, pursuant to the 2015 rule review plan adopted by the Board at its July 2015 meeting: Chapter 220. Nurse Licensure Compact, §§220.1 - 220.4; Chapter 223. Fees, §223.1 and §223.2; Chapter 224. Delegation of Nursing Tasks by Registered Professional Nurses to Unlicensed Personnel for Clients with Acute Conditions or in Acute Care Environments, §§224.1 - 224.11; and Chapter 225. RN Delegation to Unlicensed Personnel and Tasks Not Requiring Delegation in Independent Living Environments for Clients With Stable and Predictable Conditions; §§225.1 - 225.15. In conducting its review, the Board will assess whether the reasons for originally adopting these chapters continue to exist. Each section of these chapters will be reviewed to determine whether it is obsolete, whether it reflects current legal and policy considerations and current procedures and practices of the Board, and whether it is in compliance with Chapter 2001 of the Government Code (Administrative Procedure Act).

In the October 23, 2015 issue of the Texas Register, the Board published as adopted, effective October 29, 2015, repeal and simultaneous adoption of new: 22 Tex. Admin. Code §213.27, pertaining to Good Professional Character; §213.28, pertaining to Licensure of Persons with Criminal Offenses; §213.29, pertaining to Criteria and Procedure Regarding Intemperate Use and Lack of Fitness in Eligibility and Disciplinary Matters; §213.30, pertaining to Declaratory Order of Eligibility for Licensure; and §213.33, pertaining to Factors Considered for Imposition of Penalties/Sanctions. The Board also published as adopted amendments to: Eligibility and Disciplinary Sanctions for Nurses with Substance Abuse, Misuse, Substance Dependency, or other Substance Use Disorder; Disciplinary Sanctions for Fraud, Theft, and Deception; Disciplinary Sanctions for Lying and Falsification; Disciplinary Guidelines for Criminal Conduct; and Guidelines for Physical and Psychological Evaluations.

Bullying in the Workplace

By Linda Laws, MSN, RN
Nursing Consultant for Practice

Bullying is a term used to describe disruptive behaviors that negatively affect the collaborative working environment, impacting many disciplines including nursing. Although the phrase “nurses eat their young” (p. 53) was first coined in 1986 by Judith Meissner, this type of behavior continues today. The nursing literature indicates that 31% of nurses experienced bullying and 39% witnessed bullying in their first year of practice (Laschinger, 2011). Other studies demonstrate that at least 85% of nurses have been verbally abused by a nurse colleague (Lachman, 2015). Various reasons bullying continues include: nurses may accept it as a workplace norm of behavior, some nurses fear retaliation and managers may ignore the behaviors because they do not know how to handle the situation (Thompson, 2015).

The American Nurses Association (ANA) defines bullying as “repeated, unwanted harmful actions intended to humiliate, offend, and cause distress in the recipient. Bullying actions include those that harm, undermine, and degrade” (American Nurses Association [ANA], 2015, p.3). Sansone & Sansone (2015) described workplace bullying as “the repetitive and systematic engagement of interpersonally abusive behaviors that negatively affect both the targeted individual and the work organization” (p. 32). Violence in the workplace has been described as “any act in which a person is abused, threatened, intimidated or assaulted in his or her employment” (Canadian Centre for Occupational Health & Safety [CCOHS], 2012, p.1). The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) defines workplace violence as “any act or threat of physical violence, harassment, intimidation, or other threatening disruptive behavior that occurs at the work site” (Occupational Safety and Health Administration [OSHA], n.d. para.1). Workplace norms of incivility and bullying may progress to threats of workplace violence (Clark, 2013).

Unfortunately, bullying behaviors are not only unprofessional, but they also undermine patient safety. These behaviors can disrupt communication and teamwork. In 2008, The Joint Commission (TJC) reported that these behaviors can foster medical errors; and contribute to poor patient satisfaction and to preventable adverse outcomes.

Communication, professional behaviors, and caring behaviors are characteristics of both the licensed vocational nurse and registered nurse. The Texas Board of Nursing (BON) Rule 217.11(1)(P) states that all nurses shall “collaborate with the client, members of the health care team, and when appropriate, the client’s significant other(s) in the interest of the client’s health care” (BON, 2015, p. 106). When bullying behaviors disrupt communication and teamwork, nurses are not meeting the intent of this rule.

Root Causes & Contributing Factors

According to TJC (2008), fear of retaliation or the stigma of whistle blowing may prevent someone from reporting bullying behaviors. Individuals may be reluctant to confront the bullying offender/s. Unfortunately, what is tolerated becomes an accepted norm of behavior. The Joint Commission reported a “history of tolerance and indifference to intimidating and disruptive behaviors in health care” as one of many contributing factors to the continued bullying among members of the health care team (TJC, 2008, para. 5) Additionally, TJC (2008) found that:

Systemic factors stem from the unique health care cultural environment, which is marked by pressures that include increased productivity demands, cost containment requirements, embedded hierarchies, and fear of or stress from litigation. These pressures can be further exacerbated by changes to or differences in the authority, autonomy, empowerment, and roles or values of professionals on the health care team, as well as by the continual flux of daily changes in shifts, rotations, and interdepartmental support staff. This dynamic creates challenges for inter-professional communication and for the development of trust among team members (para. 6).

Prevalence

Authorities agree that the true prevalence of bullying is unknown because it is often unrecognized and/or underreported (Becher & Visovsky, 2012). Lachman (2015) highlighted a report from as far back as 2003 from the Institute for Safe Medication Practices that found up to 40% of health care clinicians refrained from speaking up or acting rather than confronting or questioning a colleague known for exhibiting bullying behaviors.

Consequences

There are many consequences of bullying, not only to the individual and the nursing team, but also to patients and healthcare organizations. It may be seen as disruptive to team performance resulting in poor patient satisfaction with negative impacts on the victim including lowered self-esteem, increased anxiety, depression, and sleep disorders (Academy of Medical-Surgical Nurses [AMS], n.d.). Bullying erodes trusting, collaborative relationships resulting in a culture of fear. A culture based on fear contributes to a working environment primed for practice breakdown. TJC (2008) stated “intimidating and disruptive behaviors can foster medical errors, contribute to poor patient satisfaction and to preventable adverse outcomes, increase the cost of care, and cause qualified clinicians, administrators, and managers to seek new positions in more professional environments” (para. 1).

For the individual nurse, this behavior can lead to: depression, anger, increased stress, insomnia, gastrointestinal distress, headaches/migraines, feeling sick, hypertension, cardiac arrhythmias, appetite changes, anxiety, panic attacks, dread of work, tearfulness, irritable behavior, lack of concentration, loneliness, low self-esteem, self-harm, social dysfunction, unhappiness, increased use of alcohol, nicotine or other drugs, or suicide (AMSN, n.d.).

Bullying behaviors left unremediated may also contribute to difficulty of recruiting and retaining staff, as well as increased nurse turnover, which further impacts on the quality of patient care. Bullying in the workplace can have a serious financial impact on the health care organization associated with the cost of high turnover, absenteeism, and reduced productivity with a resultant decrease in patient satisfaction (Townsend, 2012).

Interventions

The ANA (2015) offers primary, secondary, and tertiary prevention strategies aimed to address incivility and bullying in nursing. Primary prevention interventions include a required commitment by nurses to foster healthy relationships with the health care team, self-awareness of one’s communication patterns, and self-directed actions to create a norm of civility (ANA, 2015). Secondary prevention strategies are aimed to minimize the negative impacts of bullying (ANA, 2015). Recognizing bullying behaviors is paramount. Overt behaviors may include: raised eyebrows, bickering, name calling, public criticism, threatening, gossiping, blaming, interrupting, or giving someone the silent treatment. Covert behaviors include withholding information, refusing to help a colleague, exclusion, sabotaging, backstabbing, unfair assignments, sarcasm, undermining, and not being approachable. Nurses are encouraged to support the targeted nurse and to address the nurse who exhibits bullying behavior in private, alerting them that their behavior is unacceptable (ANA, 2015). Tertiary prevention measures that are intended to decrease the consequences of bullying include early reporting of an incident, as well as seeking and providing available support to and from peers, employers, and possibly, legal counsel (ANA, 2015). Employers are encouraged to follow up on reports of bullying according to policies and procedures, maintain accurate records, and incorporate actions related to bullying into performance improvement plans (ANA, 2015).

It is incumbent upon nurse leaders to ensure the organization has a zero tolerance policy to bullying. Negative behavior must be confronted. Conflict training can help nurses learn how to confront individuals who engage in this behavior. Support and resources should be provided to empower nurses and help avoid embarrassment and fear of retaliation (Lachman, 2015; Sansone & Sansone, 2015). Nurses should be encouraged to speak up. If a colleague is the subject of another’s bullying behavior, he/she should intervene by asking them to help in another location. All team members are accountable to take action in establishing and preserving a collegial team environment.

Conclusion

Nurses should not have to accept bullying as a part of the job. Bullying behaviors can harm individual nurses, the nursing profession, and most importantly, patients. These behaviors are unethical and should not be tolerated. Additionally, nurse leaders must assess their organizations for bullying and based upon this assessment, implement policies, and incorporate strategies to stop these disruptive behaviors. It is a shared responsibility among nurses and employers to create an environment in which both nurses and patients are trusted and feel safe.

The mission of the Texas Board of Nursing is to protect and promote the welfare of the people of Texas by ensuring that each person holding a license as a nurse in the State of Texas is competent to practice safely. The BON Rules, Position Statements, and Frequently Asked Questions are resources for nurses that reinforce professional behavior, collaboration, and can assist nurses in eliminating bullying behaviors. Legislative Update

During the 84th Texas Legislative Session (2015), House Bill 2696, relating to a study on reducing workplace violence against nurses, was filed by Representative Donna Howard and passed with an effective date of September 1, 2015. To this end, the Texas Center for Nursing Workforce Studies Advisory Committee in collaboration with the BON, has established a task force to assist with implementation of a survey on workplace violence against nurses in Texas hospitals, freestanding emergency medical care facilities, nursing facilities, and home health agencies. It is anticipated that surveys to facilities and nurses will be distributed to respondents in the spring of 2016. A final report of the study is planned to be completed and published by December 1, 2016.

Nurse Licensure Compact: Q & A

Question: What criteria should an employer use to determine when nurses practicing on a compact privilege in Texas need to apply for a Texas nursing license?

Answer: A nurse may only have one license with multistate privileges at a time [Texas Occupations Code Sec. 304.001, art 4 (b)]. Therefore, the Texas Board of Nursing (BON) cannot issue a license to a nurse who has legally declared another compact state as the primary state of residence. Supporting documentary evidence of Texas residency includes: a Texas driver's license, voter registration in Texas, or reflection of a Texas address on income tax documentation [Board Rule 220.2 (b)].

While a nurse is transitioning from one licensure compact state to Texas, the nurse may practice under the multistate privilege of the former home state license for up to 90 days while the Texas license is being processed. If the nurse is lawfully maintaining residence in a Nurse Licensure Compact (NLC) state, then the nurse may practice in Texas on the multistate privilege indefinitely. In this scenario, employers are required to verify current multistate licensure privilege of the nurse and may choose to use Nursys® (www.nursys.com) for this purpose.

Question: When a nurse with multistate privileges on a Texas nursing license accepts a travel assignment in another state participating in the NLC, which state governs the nurse's practice?

Answer: The nurse must continue to meet the licensure requirements of Texas but must also follow the nursing practice act and applicable rules and regulations for the practice of nursing where the patient resides or the state where the nursing care is being delivered.

Question: When a nurse with multistate privileges on a nursing license from one of the states participating in the NLC accepts a travel assignment in

Texas, which state governs the nurse's practice?

Answer: The nurse must comply with the Texas Nursing Practice Act and the Texas BON rules and regulations as well as the laws, rules, and regulations applicable to the nurse's area of practice. The nurse will also need to comply with licensure requirements of the nurse's home state.

Question: What is meant by the term "licensure requirements" when determining the applicable state laws and rules a nurse must follow?

Answer: "Licensure requirements" specifies that a nurse must meet the criteria to maintain and renew the nursing license. The Board Rules located in Chapter 216, Continuing Competency, addresses the rules a nurse must meet related to continuing education or nursing certification for licensure renewal, therefore, these are a part of the licensure requirements. In addition, a nurse must meet the eligibility requirements for licensure renewal.

BON Continuing Competency Offerings Address New Nursing Jurisprudence and Ethics Requirements

In 2013, the 83rd Regular Texas Legislative Session passed a law that specifies continuing education requirements for all nurses. Senate Bill (SB) 1058 requires nurses to complete at least 2 hours of continuing education related to nursing jurisprudence and ethics before the end of every third, two-year licensing period. The BON has two continuing education offerings which meet the new requirements: the workshop titled, "Protecting Your Patients and Your Practice" and the interactive online CNE Opportunity titled, "Nursing Regulations for Safe Practice". For more information about BON CNE requirements visit the Board's website and click on Laws and Rules, then Rules and Regulations, and then Chapter 216.

Please Note: Participants more than 10 minutes late or who leave prior to the end of the session (workshop or webinar) will not receive CE credit as per ANCC requirements or meet BON stipulations.
